

A Monk Without A Monastery: An Examination of Self-Discovery

We are here to understand why we make the choices we make. What does it mean to be human? How can we learn to recognize and vanquish our ego and release our compassionate spiritual essence? This book poses questions and suggests answers while examining how human beings are capable of genocide on one hand and godlike compassion on the other. Growing numbers of human beings believe we have the potential to evolve in spiritual awareness as a species and produce a more compassionate world. Only time will tell but time may be running out. One thing is certain however, positive change will not happen without knowledge, effort and vision. Ignoring the horrors of humanity-defining moments like war and genocide reinforces negative historical patterns of behavior that are growing in number and ferocity. We can create a new reality to make a difference but we need the tools to do so. This book utilizes traditional Buddhist philosophy and other perspectives to create a toolbox for self-realization and positive change. A Country Cop Books publication.

Welcome to the blog of Joan le Grande. I'm changing the blog to english so forgive me the dutch articles before. I already translated a few, keeping it up! Anyway, stay tuned for lifestyle articles and reviews about games or other nerdy stuff. Enjoy! I'm super hyped about the VR, but you obviously knew that already because of my last blogpost. There were a few hiccups because I ordered it online and I was working during the time it came. I stressed, freaked, jumped and finally gave up on the thought I got to play on the day it came out. But luck was on my side and when I got home, 20 minutes later the VR glasses arrived! In this post I will take you with me on my first experience with virtual reality. Was it as awesome as I hoped? Or is nauseating and not really my cup of tea? Read and find out!
