

Baltimore Hand Book of Colleges, Schools, Libraries, Museums, Halls, &C: 1876 (Classic Reprint)

Excerpt from Baltimore Hand Book of Colleges, Schools, Libraries, Museums, Halls, &C: 1876 We offer this little book to the public for the purpose of supplying a want that has long been felt, of precise and accurate information respecting the Educational and Literary facilities of Baltimore. While it is not regarded as exhaustive, nor as entirely free from mistakes, it is complete within its limits, and as free from error as conscientious and persevering inquiry could make it. Few persons have any idea of the labor and expense necessary to produce such a hand book, but we hope that all will recognize and appreciate the effort to present in brief compass a statement, comprehensive in plan and accurate in detail, of the means of literary culture which this growing City affords. The main credit of the work belongs to Prof. George L. Smith, of the State Normal School, who visited personally most of the institutions referred to, and whose careful habits of investigation have ensured all the exactness attainable in such inquiries. Leave a comment Tagsexperience, first look, Games, Playstation 4, Playstation VR review, ps4 VR review, virtual reality YES YES YES. I'm super hyped about the VR, but you obviously knew that already because of my last blogpost. There were a few hiccups because I ordered it online and I was working during the time it came. I stressed, freaked, jumped and finally gave up on the thought I got to play on the day it came out. But luck was on my side and when I got home, 20 minutes later the VR glasses arrived! In this post I will take you with me on my first experience with virtual reality. Was it as awesome as I hoped? Or is nauseating and not really my cup of tea? Read and find out!
