

Biographical Sketches of the Graduates of Yale College, With Annals of the College History, Vol. 2: May, 1745 May, 1763 (Classic Reprint)

Excerpt from Biographical Sketches of the Graduates of Yale College, With Annals of the College History, Vol. 2: May, 1745 May, 1763 The first volume of this series appeared in June, 1885, and although a beginning had then been made upon a second volume, the pressure of other occupations has, to the authors regret, interfered to prevent its earlier completion. The sources of information heretofore acknowledged have continued to be available, and both old friends and new have been generous in their aid, while the remarkable increase in historical and genealogical literature in this country has lightened much of the labor. The author is again indebted to his friend Professor Newton for some valuable vital statistics included in the Appendix. Dates before September, 1752, are generally given in Old Style. The same abbreviations are used as in the former volume, to indicate libraries in which copies of the publications of graduates may be found. I'm super hyped about the VR, but you obviously knew that already because of my last blogpost. There were a few hiccups because I ordered it online and I was working during the time it came. I stressed, freaked, jumped and finally gave up on the thought I got to play on the day it came out. But luck was on my side and when I got home, 20 minutes later the VR glasses arrived! In this post I will take you with me on my first experience with virtual reality. Was it as awesome as I hoped? Or is nauseating and not really my cup of tea? Read and find out!
