

50 Ways to Thrive, Putting the Sizzle Back Into Your Life: A New Look at the Possibilities for Human Beings

Dr. Talsky writes with the intention of shaking the very foundation of the way people think about themselves, other people, circumstances, and the experience of life itself. He offers 50 key characteristics that are consistently present in thriving individuals, couples, families, organizations, communities and societies. By recognizing our true nature, by consciously and actively cultivating it through the development of aspirations and dreams, and by drawing on faintly-recognized or undiscovered talents and other inborn gifts, this result can become an astounding reality for each of us. What a world that would lead to! In 50 Ways, Dr. Talsky reveals the infinite access we have as individuals and relationships to develop possibilities beyond our wildest imaginations. In expression, health and healing, creativity, relationships, invention and discovery, we can transcend our sense of lack and limitation and create an extraordinary life.

I'm super hyped about the VR, but you obviously knew that already because of my last blogpost. There were a few hiccups because I ordered it online and I was working during the time it came. I stressed, freaked, jumped and finally gave up on the thought I got to play on the day it came out. But luck was on my side and when I got home, 20 minutes later the VR glasses arrived! In this post I will take you with me on my first experience with virtual reality. Was it as awesome as I hoped? Or is nauseating and not really my cup of tea? Read and find out!
