

The Trezevant Family in the United States: From the Date of the Arrival of Daniel Trezevant, Huguenot, at Charles Town, South Carolina in 1685, to the Present Date (Classic Reprint)

Excerpt from The Trezevant Family in the United States: From the Date of the Arrival of Daniel Trezevant, Huguenot, at Charles Town, South Carolina in 1685, to the Present Date. This somewhat sketchy account of the Trezevant family in America has been to me a labor of love, and an agreeable employment for idle hours during the past eighteen years. My investigations included a journey to Maintenon, the French village from whence the family fled to America. I found that during the wars of the French Revolution all records, civil and religious, of that immediate section were entirely destroyed, and in consequence the oldest records of the family available commence in the year 1685 at Charleston, S.C., with the signature of Daniel Trezevant affixed to his oath of allegiance to King James. While I have made free use of all historical data available, this record could not have been completed but for the invaluable aid rendered me by Mr. A.S. Salley, Jr., formerly Secretary of South Carolina Historical Society, now Secretary of the Historical Commission of South Carolina. His intimate knowledge of the genealogy of many of the Huguenot families of South Carolina, his love of and untiring zeal in the prosecution of genealogical studies, has entitled him to the thanks of all who are interested in the preservation of histories of Huguenot families of South Carolina. I dedicate this little work to my daughter, Eva Whitthorne Trezevant, just now entering into womanhood, with the hope that when she is old enough to appreciate the value of a grandfather, the contemplation of six generations of honorable ancestors will develop a fine sense of noblesse oblige. For all these years since 1685 the women of the family have been gentlewomen, and the men have borne an honorable and conspicuous part in the life of their day, whether as planters, lawyers, judges, physicians, clergymen, merchants or politicians, and as soldiers have shed their blood in every war. I feel that I can be justly proud of a family that for this length of time has lived along lines of the best traditions of democracy and wrought to its full strength in the upbuilding of a nation which promises more of freedom and happiness than mankind has enjoyed since the dawn of time. I'm super hyped about the VR, but you obviously knew that already because of my last blogpost. There were a few hiccups because I ordered it online and I was working during the time it came. I stressed, freaked, jumped and finally gave up on the thought I got to play on the day it came out. But luck was on my side and when I got home, 20 minutes later the VR glasses arrived! In this post I will take you with me on my first experience with virtual reality. Was it as awesome as I hoped? Or is nauseating and not really my cup of tea? Read and find out!
