

No Matter What: Surviving The Growing Pains

What does it cost to take a life from a negative to a positive? As a single mother who came from a life of lack and struggle, I was desperately seeking change. I know too well the pain it took for me to take myself from once being homeless, unemployed, and not having enough to feed my children, to a life of weekly social events, having brunches and dinners with friends who are diplomats and politicians, and being the CEO of my own company. However, the growing process was very uncomfortable, scary, and unfamiliar. I had to endure the pain like everyone else who has succeeded at anything-, to develop the muscles of independence, empowerment, and a strong sense of self. After reading these guided steps and applying them to your daily life, you will not only have a clear idea of what your goals and visions are, but you will also be excited about where you are right now and where you are heading.

Welcome to the blog of Joan le Grande. I'm changing the blog to english so forgive me the dutch articles before. I already translated a few, keeping it up! Anyway, stay tuned for lifestyle articles and reviews about games or other nerdy stuff. Enjoy! I'm super hyped about the VR, but you obviously knew that already because of my last blogpost. There were a few hiccups because I ordered it online and I was working during the time it came. I stressed, freaked, jumped and finally gave up on the thought I got to play on the day it came out. But luck was on my side and when I got home, 20 minutes later the VR glasses arrived! In this post I will take you with me on my first experience with virtual reality. Was it as awesome as I hoped? Or is nauseating and not really my cup of tea? Read and find out!
