

Tearin Through the Wilderness Missouri Pioneer Episodes 1822-1885; and Genealogy of the Watkins Family of Virginia and Missouri

Excerpt from the Preface: The Allen, Rives and Watkins families left a Virginia country environment where they were relieved of the drudgeries of workaday life by the labor of slaves; where for generations they had enjoyed the educational advantages of nearby Hampden-Sydney College, founded in 1775 by their forefathers and supported by them for decades. They were members of a society in which excellence in manners, morals and religion were prerequisites. They were home-loving, modest people, who performed their civic duties, not for prestige nor gain, but for the welfare of the community. In the entire United States few rural communities of that day could boast a higher culture. In Volume I, 1822-1885, we watch these families as they being their migration in 1833 to Northwest Missouri, until recently occupied by the Indians. We see their adjustment to pioneer life, their achievements in the ante-bellum period, their fortitude during the War between the States and Reconstruction. The bone and sinew of the account are family letters and court records. The letters were carefully preserved by Charles and Henrietta Watkins and later by their son, William H. Watkins. Volume II is a genealogy in two parts of the family of Charles Allen Watkins and Henrietta Rives, his wife, from the immigrants to the latest descendant. Volume II, Part I contains lineal charts of the ancestors of Charles Watkins and Henrietta Rives, with references. Volume II, Part 2 contains brief biographies of the descendants of Charles and Henrietta Watkins.

I'm super hyped about the VR, but you obviously knew that already because of my last blogpost. There were a few hiccups because I ordered it online and I was working during the time it came. I stressed, freaked, jumped and finally gave up on the thought I got to play on the day it came out. But luck was on my side and when I got home,

20 minutes later the VR glasses arrived! In this post I will take you with me on my first experience with virtual reality. Was it as awesome as I hoped? Or is nauseating and not really my cup of tea? Read and find out!
