

Reading, Writing, and Speaking Spanish for Beginners (Classic Reprint)

This book is designed to give a working vocabulary and the ability to use it in speaking and writing simple Spanish. In method, it aims especially to make connected speech a vital and constructive part of the first few months of work in Spanish. The text lays the foundation for an adequate course, but deals only with essential principles and broad distinctions; and it is therefore adapted in a special manner to the needs of beginners in foreign language study. Omission of the familiar form of address halves the beginners' difficulties in getting acquainted with Spanish, especially if speaking is to be emphasized. The verb forms of the second person have for this reason not been used in the text. However, a complete table of endings is given in section 359 b. For occasional supplementary reading, mainly geographical material is chosen, because of its simplicity and closeness to daily life. The geographical and other selections are drawn from a number of sources. Several I owe to Mr. Chdvez, of the City of Mexico, and to Messrs. Francisco Alvarez Company, of Seville (publishers of Cantos Populares Espafioles) and, in the case of others, I am indebted to the American Book Company for the use of material that I have adapted. It is a pleasure to acknowledge my obligation to Mr. Charles H. Howard, of the University of California, for valuable criticism, and to thank Mr. Jos Garcfa, of Madrid, who read the proofs, and several Spanish-American friends for helpful suggestions. M. C. D. I'm super hyped about the VR, but you obviously knew that already because of my last blogpost. There were a few hiccups because I ordered it online and I was working during the time it came. I stressed, freaked, jumped and finally gave up on the thought I got to play on the day it came out. But luck was on my side and when I got home, 20 minutes later the VR glasses arrived! In this post I will take you with me on my first experience with virtual reality. Was it as awesome as I hoped? Or is nauseating and not really my cup of tea? Read and find out!
