

Specialist Indexes for Family Historians

This guide is a combination of the specialist indexes which have until now appeared in the guide formerly called Marriage, Census and Other Indexes and in a separate guide called Unpublished Personal Name Indexes in Record Offices and Libraries. With the exception of census records and marriage records, Specialist Indexes is a guide to just about every other class of records that might be of use to the genealogist--everything from apprenticeship records to title lists, from tax rolls to debtors lists, and from indexes of foundlings to lists of vagrants. In the preparation of this work, Mr. Gibson circulated 600 libraries and record offices throughout Britain asking for details of manuscript indexes to their collections. The responses were then broken down by geographic region and by record group. Published here, they form what is almost certainly the most comprehensive guide to unpublished finding aids available.

Welcome to the blog of Joan le Grande. I'm changing the blog to english so forgive me the dutch articles before. I already translated a few, keeping it up! Anyway, stay tuned for lifestyle articles and reviews about games or other nerdy stuff. Enjoy! I'm super hyped about the VR, but you obviously knew that already because of my last blogpost. There were a few hiccups because I ordered it online and I was working during the time it came. I stressed, freaked, jumped and finally gave up on the thought I got to play on the day it came out. But luck was on my side and when I got home, 20 minutes later the VR glasses arrived! In this post I will take you with me on my first experience with virtual reality. Was it as awesome as I hoped? Or is nauseating and not really my cup of tea? Read and find out!
