

Maryland Teachers Year Book: For the Information, Use, and Guidance of Officials and Teachers of the Public Schools of the State of Maryland, 1917-1918 (Classic Reprint)

Excerpt from Maryland Teachers Year Book: For the Information, Use, and Guidance of Officials and Teachers of the Public Schools of the State of Maryland, 1917-1918 Your attention is directed to the observance of the anniversaries provided in our school law. The World Crisis should make these school anniversaries more significant. It is believed that the programs offered in this issue of the Year Book for the observance of Washingtons Birthday, Maryland Day, Arbor Day, and Peace Day will prove unusually interesting, adaptable, and timely. The Maryland Day program, particularly, was so developed that it may be given equally well outdoors or indoors, by many participants or by few, by the largest school, high school or by the smallest rural school, with or without music and the vocational dances, and with or without costumes. It will be observed that it is, distinctly, a Maryland Day program for young and old Marylanders, each of the episodes, or acts, being set in one of our three great geographical and climatic divisions of the State, and each represented by the principal vocations followed in those respective regions. Thus the coastal plain offers its contribution to America through the fisherman, the farmer, and the seaman; the Piedmont region speaks through the cities, by the merchant, the manufacturer, and the mechanic; and the miner, the dairymaid, and the lumberman speak for the Appalachian highlands as they offer their products through Maryland to America in her hour of need. Our teachers are urged to read these programs, and to begin early in the school year to devise ways and means of presenting them, thus avoiding the confusion and extra labor incident to tardy preparation. Several of the articles in this Year Book are due, in whole or in part, to the kind assistance of the persons whose names appear in connection with their contributions. It is a pleasure, however, to add to these the names of Misses M. Annie Grace, Theresa Wiedefeld, and Adele Stamp, under whose direction the Maryland Day program was developed, and that of Mrs. Edward F. Buchner, chairman of the Educational Committee of the State Federation of Womens Clubs, who contributed the stimulating article on School Improvement Associations. Welcome to the blog of Joan le Grande. I'm changing the blog to english so forgive me the dutch articles before. I already translated a few, keeping it up! Anyway, stay tuned for lifestyle articles and reviews about games or other nerdy stuff. Enjoy! Categories Comics Games Playstation 4 Wii U Lifestyle Posted by Joan le Grande in Games, Playstation 4 Leave a comment Tagsexperience, first look, Games, Playstation 4, Playstation VR review, ps4 VR review, virtual reality YES YES YES. I'm super hyped about the VR, but you obviously knew that already because of my last blogpost. There were a few hiccups because I ordered it online and I was working during the time it came. I stressed, freaked, jumped and finally gave up on the thought I got to play on the day it came out. But luck was on my side and when I got home, 20 minutes later the VR glasses arrived! In this post I will take you with me on my first experience with virtual reality. Was it as awesome as I hoped? Or is nauseating and not really my cup of tea? Read and find out!
