

Mushrooms In My Head, Dead Lions In The Yard

Max has Sensory Processing Disorder, specifically, she is a Sensory Seeker. Max is also the self-proclaimed mischievous alter-ego of a quirky little girl named Bethany. Max lives out loud in full-throttle, and in a light-hearted true narrative of her toddler-hood, the reader gets to see the world through the very funny and unique lens of this special little girl. Her disability may shape her, but it does not define her. Max can give anyone a run for their money. As a mother of a child with SPD, as well as an educator in elementary special education, KC Hopkins has learned how easy it is for parents to see only the disorder and miss seeing the child themselves. In this book, readers see Max, in all of her Max-ness - the good, the bad, and the messy, to laugh and learn with her in her world and her all too familiar episodes involving Sharpies, Silly Putty, and the ever unpredictable Santa photos.

Welcome to the blog of Joan le Grande. I'm changing the blog to english so forgive me the dutch articles before. I already translated a few, keeping it up! Anyway, stay tuned for lifestyle articles and reviews about games or other nerdy stuff. Enjoy! Categories Comics Games Playstation 4 Wii U Lifestyle Posted by Joan le Grande in Games, Playstation 4 Leave a comment Tagsexperience, first look, Games, Playstation 4, Playstation VR review, ps4 VR review, virtual reality YES YES YES. I'm super hyped about the VR, but you obviously knew that already because of my last blogpost. There were a few hiccups because I ordered it online and I was working during the time it came. I stressed, freaked, jumped and finally gave up on the thought I got to play on the day it came out. But luck was on my side and when I got home, 20 minutes later the VR glasses arrived! In this post I will take you with me on my first experience with virtual reality. Was it as awesome as I hoped? Or is nauseating and not really my cup of tea? Read and find out!
