He who can pursue a subject so deep, profound and important, with so many avenues for thought and study opening up in so many diverse directions as that of Genealogy without gathering some thoughts from it that will germinate and yield good fruit for future generations is unworthy the name borne by this Genealogy. The genealogist stands, as no other can, upon the summit of time and looks down the generations past for hundreds of years. He can, like no other, study the influence of circumstances and society upon the different lines for many generations. It is difficult to calculate the amount of greatness one may possess by inheritance. The mantle of the illustrious does not always fall upon the son, nor does the son always inherit his fathers low estate, or meanness. Kepler, the great astronomical calculator, whose mother could neither read or write, and whose father was keeper of a low dirty inn, immortalized his name without ancestral greatness. Some are born great, some achieve greatness and some have greatness thrust upon them, while some, born with the elements of greatness, die before the opportunity arrives for its development. Well has Gray said of the country church-yard, Perhaps in this neglected spot is laid Some heart once pregnant with celestial fire; Hand that the rod of empire might have swayed, And waked to extacy the living lyre. The true man should be benefitted by his parents lives whether reckless and low, or careful and illustrious. If his ancestors were low and mean he should shun the causes that made them so, if great, he should be thankful for that greatness to emulate. Welcome to the blog of Joan le Grande. I'm changing the blog to english so forgive me the dutch articles before. I already translated a few, keeping it up! Anyway, stay tuned for lifestyle articles and reviews about games or other nerdy stuff. Enjoy! I'm super hyped about the VR, but you obviously knew that already because of my last blogpost. There were a few hiccups because I ordered it online and I was working during the time it came. I stressed, freaked, jumped and finally gave up on the thought I got to play on the day it came out. But luck was on my side and when I got home, 20 minutes later the VR glasses arrived! In this post I will take you with me on my first experience with virtual reality. Was it as awesome as I hoped? Or is nauseating and not really my cup of tea? Read and find out!
