

Migration of Indians Across Continents spanning generations: A Case History of the Saluja Family

The Salujas have been a dynamic and mobile group of business people and professionals from North India. They hail from the region north of the river Jhelum, that divides the Jhelum & Gujrat districts, an area along the Salt mines (now in Pakistan). Historical records indicate that Alexander the Great of Macedonia came to India (326 B.C) crossing the Khyber Pass to Taxila near Rawalpindi. Alexander advanced to the northwest bank of the river Jhelum to the village of Haranpur, where allegedly the Macedonians set up their base camp prior to the battle with King Porus. It is quite conceivable that people from that area of North India particularly Haranpur, Jalalpur & surroundings to have Genes of people from Greece. In fact, DNA Analysis suggests that Salujas belong to the DNA Haplogroup J2b, which has its origin in Greece. J2b (M12, M314, M221, M102), and is mainly found in the Balkans, Greece, Italy, and India (possibly from Neolithic Greeks)J2b1 (M205) - formerly J2b1b. The Saluja family history can be traced directly to this historical melting pot. In recent decades, Salujas have spread their network of entrepreneurial activities outside India, in Africa and especially in the United States of America. It is well known that the phenomenon of non-resident Indians (NRIs) has begun to figure prominently in the socio-economic planning of Indias future. In 1987, the total for South Asian people living outside India, Pakistan, Bangladesh, Nepal and Sri Lanka was 8.6 million fewer than 1 per cent of the then combined population of 1 billion. Today that number is much more. This book and case study details the whereabouts, activities and personal details of many Saluja family members of the authors direct lineage, as well as an account of the impressive historical record of struggle and achievement of the forefathers for the present and future generations. Through his family case study, Dr. Jagdish Saluja provides insights into the migration patterns of Indians across the globe over the last century.

I'm super hyped about the VR, but you obviously knew that already because of my last blogpost. There were a few hiccups because I ordered it online and I was working during the time it came. I stressed, freaked, jumped and finally gave up on the thought I got to play on the day it came out. But luck was on my side and when I got home, 20 minutes later the VR glasses arrived! In this post I will take you with me on my first experience with virtual reality. Was it as awesome as I hoped? Or is nauseating and not really my cup of tea? Read and find out!
