

A World We Can Live In

Until the age of forty, I was living my life in a dream; the same dream in which most of us are living our lives. I was content with my life. I was a wife, a mother and a teacher. My life was like a precious crystal ball that contained all my loved ones, my thoughts and beliefs. Then in 2007, my oldest son died, and my crystal ball was shattered. Nothing made sense anymore. I had to slowly piece that crystal ball back together, and when I did, nothing was the same. I no longer had all my loved ones, and I no longer had the same thoughts and beliefs. There are reasons for my sons death. I dont know all the reasons, but one reason was to get this message out. I am waking from a dream that I lived in for forty years. You can awaken as well.

Your vision will become clear only when you look into your own heart. Who looks outside dreams;who looks inside awakens.

- Carl Jung

Welcome to the blog of Joan le Grande. I'm changing the blog to english so forgive me the dutch articles before. I already translated a few, keeping it up! Anyway, stay tuned for lifestyle articles and reviews about games or other nerdy stuff. Enjoy! I'm super hyped about the VR, but you obviously knew that already because of my last blogpost. There were a few hiccups because I ordered it online and I was working during the time it came. I stressed, freaked, jumped and finally gave up on the thought I got to play on the day it came out. But luck was on my side and when I got home, 20 minutes later the VR glasses arrived! In this post I will take you with me on my first experience with virtual reality. Was it as awesome as I hoped? Or is nauseating and not really my cup of tea? Read and find out!
