

Simplicity is the Key: How things get done in organisations

It is certainly quite different to anything I have read, it is almost conversational and a very interesting theme for a book - Sir Alex Ferguson CBE: Manager of Manchester United Football Club. This Book is based on the day do day parry and thrust, the highs and lows, successes and failures of life in the organisational mainstream .... of effects of strategies .. of service delivery programmes, relationships and communication directly affecting the lives and well being of customers. Trevor Gays remarkably warm, clear and conversational style coupled with his frank presentation of facts and ideas is encouraging and engaging .. it will inspire many readers to more effective performance, it will serve as a powerful re-inforcement for the millions of people in workplaces around the world who do the right (leadership and management) things intuitively. - Brian Galbraith: Executive Chairman of Optimise International. A Perth (Australia) and Washington DC based Consultancy Personal Reflection on a career in NHS management. An interesting read for people inside the NHS and out - Sir Nigel Crisp; Chief Executive of the National Health Service (NHS)

Welcome to the blog of Joan le Grande. I'm changing the blog to english so forgive me the dutch articles before. I already translated a few, keeping it up! Anyway, stay tuned for lifestyle articles and reviews about games or other nerdy stuff. Enjoy! I'm super hyped about the VR, but you obviously knew that already because of my last blogpost. There were a few hiccups because I ordered it online and I was working during the time it came. I stressed, freaked, jumped and finally gave up on the thought I got to play on the day it came out. But luck was on my side and when I got home, 20 minutes later the VR glasses arrived! In this post I will take you with me on my first experience with virtual reality. Was it as awesome as I hoped? Or is nauseating and not really my cup of tea? Read and find out!
