This historic book may have numerous typos and missing text. Purchasers can usually download a free scanned copy of the original book (without typos) from the publisher. Not indexed. Not illustrated. 1801 edition. Excerpt: ...what was become of the Vizier? They answered, that, having quitted the Vizarut, he employed himself in serving the Deity. The King went to the Vizier, and asked, O Vizier, what offence have I committed, that you quitted the Vizarut? He answered, For five reasons. First--You were sitting, and I standing in your presence; now, I serve God, who has commanded me to sit at the time of prayer. Second--You ate, whilst I was looking on; now, I have found a Provider, who eateth not himself, but sustains me. Third--You slept, whilst I watched; now, I have a God who protects me whilst I rest. Fourth--I waf always afraid, that, if you should die, I might experience some misfortune from enemies; now, I have such a God who will not die, neither can enemies do me any injury. Fifth--With you I was afraid that, if I should have committed a fault, you would not have forgiven me; but, now, my God is so merciful, that I commit an hundred sins every day, and he pardons me. STORY LXXVI. It is related, that Sultan Mahmood had a great regard for his slave Iyaz; on which account all the officers of state envied him, and said to the King, Behold, Iyaz goes every day into the Jewel-office alone! and what business has he there? The King said, Whenever I shall see it with my own eyes, I shall believe it. The next day they informed the King that Iyaz was gone into the Jewel-office. The King looked into the Jewel-office through a window, and what did he see but Iyaz! who, having opened a chest, had dressed himself in old dirty clothes. The King entered, and asked why he had put on such a dress? He answered, O my lord! before I was in your...

Welcome to the blog of Joan le Grande. I'm changing the blog to english so forgive me the dutch articles before. I already translated a few, keeping it up! Anyway, stay tuned for lifestyle articles and reviews about games or other nerdy stuff. Enjoy! Categories Comics Games Playstation 4 Wii U Lifestyle Posted by Joan le Grande in Games, Playstation 4 Leave a comment Tagsexperience, first look, Games, Playstation 4, Playstation VR review, ps4 VR review, virtual reality YES YES YES. I'm super hyped about the VR, but you obviously knew that already because of my last blogpost. There were a few hiccups because I ordered it online and I was working during the time it came. I stressed, freaked, jumped and finally gave up on the thought I got to play on the day it came out. But luck was on my side and when I got home, 20 minutes later the VR glasses arrived! In this post I will take you with me on my first experience with virtual reality. Was it as awesome as I hoped? Or is nauseating and not really my cup of tea? Read and find out!
