

The Portrait Of A Complete Man

Everybody has a natural urge to be popular among his peer group: young people want to be the centres of attraction among their school, college friends; working people wish to be spoken well of in their professional circles; and, of course, all grown-ups wish to hit it off well with the opposite sex! Now, you too can cultivate an image of poise, positivity and personal charm and make way into others hearts with this book! The book offers pointers that include: *Power of perseverance and positivity *Developing personal magnetism, poise and manners *Cultivating healthy habits *Tackling personal and sexual problems *Enjoying love, marriage and fatherhood *Succeeding at the workplace *Handling people and improving efficiency *Recognising the importance of recreation *And growing old gracefully Finally, the book gives practical guidelines on how the complete man can discover peace, happiness and contentment. Indeed, the book is an excellent guide to male personality development, cutting across all age- groups. About the Author(s) Educated in Dehra Dun and New Delhi, Prem P Bhalla enjoys photography and travelling, having travelled widely in India and abroad. He has also authored Teens to Twenties, a guidebook for youngsters, published by Pustak Mahal. Authors Note: I like reading jokes. I think everybody does. We enjoy some readily. Occasionally we come across one that not only refreshes us, but also sets the mind thinking. I read one more than two decades ago and I still keep thinking about it. I do not know how many times I must have repeated it. It was not an anecdote. It was a definition - of a specialist. It said a specialist is a person who knows more and more about less and less until he knows everything about nothing! How true! In our scramble for power through specialised knowledge, to qualify for special positions, modern man is proving the definition true. In pursuit of this specialised knowledge, modern man has gone to such extremes that he has achieved what he set out to, but in return has lost the balance of living. He has forgotten the very purpose for which he joined the race. We find specialists in every sphere of life. They occupy special positions. They are admired. However, they are incomplete individuals, with much knowledge about their field, but none about life and living. To be progressive in life, it is not enough to be a specialist. The world needs the complete man. We need individuals who live a complete life for themselves, for their families, and for the communities they live in. Is this possible? Of course, it is. God has blessed everyone to live a complete life. The rest depends upon the individual. The Portrait of a Complete Man strives to guide one to live a balanced life, a complete life. Read it. Think about what you read. Re-read portions that appeal to you. Adapt what appears useful to you. Be happy. Succeed at your work. Have a happy home. Bring up happy children. Contribute to the society that has given you so much. As you enjoy the benefits of a balanced life, you become the complete man. Good luck!

Welcome to the blog of Joan le Grande. I'm changing the blog to english so forgive me the dutch articles before. I already translated a few, keeping it up! Anyway, stay tuned for lifestyle articles and reviews about games or other nerdy stuff. Enjoy! I'm super hyped about the VR, but you obviously knew that already because of my last blogpost. There were a few hiccups because I ordered it online and I was working during the time it came. I stressed, freaked, jumped and finally gave up on the thought I got to play on the day it came out. But luck was on my side and when I got home, 20 minutes later the VR glasses arrived! In this post I will take you with me on my first experience with virtual reality. Was it as awesome as I hoped? Or is nauseating and not really my cup of tea? Read and find out!
